I'm Aby, a northern graphic designer with an eye for all things digital. In my short time in the creative industry, I have worked with brands such as Cosmopolitan, Tatler and WWF. Covering everything from advertising to digital publishing, with a little illustration thrown in. My current role as digital producer requires web content management, social media engagement, video editing and content creation.

When I'm not behind my mac screen you'll find me travelling, training for my next obstacle course or doodling on my tablet. I also recently started a blog and YouTube channel to build on my portfolio of skills. To sum up, I'm a trained barista who loves the great outdoors and can't resist a creative challenge (mental or physical). Follow my work on Twitter | Instagram.
